Meeting Will Discuss Methods Of Increasing Farmers' Income

GARDINER, CHURCH AND LAUT TO SPEAK ON GRAIN PROBLEMS

A mass meeting of farmers, businessmen and general public will be held in Crossfield on Monday afternoon to discuss methods of increasing farmers' income. The meeting is one of a series being held throughout the entire province under auspices of the United Farmers of Alberta, and the Crossfield meeting is under the arrangement of Crossfield & District Board of Trade.

Robert Gardiner, president of the U.F.A., George Church, executive member of the U.F.A., and Frank Laut, M.L.A., Crossfield, will be principal speakers when the local meeting convenes at 2:30 p.m. in the U.F.A. Hall on Monday, October 27.

Two of the slogans being used by the farmers' organization in its campaign to help the farmers in regard to wheat prices are: "50c Wheat is Canada's Cripple" and "Western Farmers are 20 per cent of Canada's population but receive only 5 per cent of Canada's National Income." Previous meetings of the same campaign have been well attended and it is expected that there will be a representative gathering at Crossfield of those interested from Carstairs to Airdrie.

Germans Squeeze Swiss To Economic Slavery

BY BETTY SARGENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Four million Swiss, brave, tough and determined for the most part to maintain their 650-year-old democracy and to resist the "new order" as long as possible, have been until recently the most fortunate people in Europe.

Time after time when their country seemed faced with Nazi invasion some stroke of luck turned the Nazis in another direction.

In May, 1940, the German break through France's northern defenses was speedier than the Germans had anticipated and so apparent plans for invasion of Switzerland in mid-May weren't carried through.

DUCK FEARFUL

In June, 1940, Mussolini agreed to come into the war against France and Britain. There were perhaps many conditions, but well informed Swiss are convinced Mussolini made it plain to Hitler that Switzerland was to be left alone, not out of altruism, but because of his dread of another common frontier with his stronger partner.

Less than two weeks later France asked for an armistice. The military danger for Switzerland was practically over, but there was another danger no less real, no less devastating.

"How are we going to keep alive economically?" the Swiss asked themselves.

Bordered on the east by Germany, on the south by Italy, and on the west by Nazi-occupied France and Axis-controlled Vichy France, Switzerland gradually has been squeezed into economic submission.

Her armaments industries used to supply the democracies with large quantities of munitions, anti-tank guns and fuses, for which the Swiss are famous. This trade had to stop with the collapse of France. Swiss industrialists were faced with the choice of closing down their plants or making arms for Germany and Italy.

STAGE "SLOW DOWN"

Hard-headed realists, the industrialists decided to keep their plants open and fill German orders. But many of their crack workmen felt differently about the matter. Before the Germans got wind of it, 20 Swiss expert technicians employed by a well known arms plant, had crossed the Geneva frontier, got through France, Spain and Portugal and sailed for Canada, where they are now using their skill in the service of Britain.

On discovering this German officials promptly demanded that Spain refuse entry of all Swiss men above the age of 18.

Swiss mobilization is another thorn in the German side. Although figures on men under arms in Switzerland are never disclosed, it is common knowledge the Swiss are keeping at least a third of their forces mobilized. This means industry runs at a much slower pace than is pleasing to the Germans, and has forced Nazi business representatives in Switzerland to adopt subtle means.

Recently German economic commissions toured all the large towns of Switzerland, visiting the main arms and manufacturing industries. Wherever a factory was not producing at highest capacity, the German representatives asked the owner, "why?"

The usual reply called constant and continual mobilization as one of the causes.

The German commissions suggested Germany would supply the owner with the necessary raw materials if the owner could get a promise from his government that his employees would not be mobilized.

Easy Mark For Economic Blockade, British Opinion

LONDON, Oct. 21.—An authoritative British naval source said today the support given to us by the American Navy is invaluable, and although the ebb and flow of the Battle of the Atlantic continues ceaselessly, "we do have reason for confidence."

He discussed the possibility of war in the Pacific, and rated the Japanese Navy as "very powerful, efficient and well-manned and very strong against attack" but "extremely susceptible to economic blockade."

The U.S. naval bases at Guam and Manila were described as "not modern," with Guam important as an intermediate refueling base between Hawaii and the Philippines in the event of war between the United States and Japan.

Of the all-important Battle of the Atlantic he said:

STRENGTHEN ESCORTS
"Our convoys continue to cross those dangerous waters and the strength of our escort forces is rising day by day," he said.

American destroyers and Coast Guard cutters released for service in the Royal Navy have been of very great assistance to us.

"Nevertheless, the strength of the attack in no way diminishes. This battle will never be really won until the last U-boat or last raider is sunk."

Many of the Japanese ships, he added, "look overburdened, with armament."

AD.

APPLY PRESSURE
As a result there is increased pressure on the government to demobilize the army almost completely, and this time the pressure comes from the Swiss themselves instead of from the Germans. Thus far pressure has been resisted successfully by the government. The government knows the people look upon its army and Gen. Henri Guisan, its commander, as Switzerland's only safety valve.

But how long the government can or will go on listening to the majority in face of increased economic difficulties is a question.

The economic agreement which the Swiss were forced to make with Germany this past summer is a case in point.

THRESHING BRINGS BETTER RETURNS THAN COMBINING

At the beginning of the week about 50 per cent of the harvesting in the Airdrie district was completed. Another ten days of good weather will be sufficient to finish the work, it is estimated. Prevailing grades are two and three with threshed grain grading, on the average, better than combined grain. Swathed grain is grading lower than the combined grain.

NAZIS MAKING NEW FIGHTER

Believed Using Radial Engine On Machine Seen Over France

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Germans are believed to have developed a new, fast fighter plane.

The question was raised by the sudden appearance over France of a "radial-engine fighter," one of which was shot down by a Polish pilot during an R.A.F. sweep.

First consideration pointed to the German Air Force commandeering some of the few Curtiss Hawks which France receive from the United States before her collapse but authorities said further investigation indicated the German aircraft industry had produced something new.

To date, German fighters, have all been equipped with "in line" engines as have most of the fastest European fighters, but it is considered possible that a radial engine of high power has been fitted to a redesigned air frame.

British pilots who have encountered these new aircraft describe them as being "very fast," which does not lend itself to a description of a Curtiss Hawk which has a top speed of only about 320 miles an hour.

"Our pilots may have been mistaken in their fleeting observations," an air authority said. "The Germans, as witness the Junkers 88 bomber, have adopted a circular cowling for an 'in line' engine which houses the glycol coolers and air intake and is easily mistaken for the mounting of a radial engine."

Red Cross Asks For Blankets for Bombing Victims

Thousands of blankets, new or "as good as new," are urgently needed for bombed-out victims in Britain, and the people of Canada are asked to 'spare a blanket' to the Canadian Red Cross Society, which today has launched its second big appeal to provide these necessities for raid sufferers.

In the last campaign the Red Cross collected throughout Canada 138,137 blankets and 101,234 quilts. This supply has been distributed to bombing victims, military hospitals, and for the benefit of distressed merchant seamen.

Many expressions of gratitude have been received by the Canadian Red Cross from bombed sufferers in Britain, and many have called the contributions of blankets and quilts a 'god-send.' According to advices from Britain the need for more blankets and quilts is most urgent, but blankets must be woolen and new, or "as good as new."

Those unable to provide blankets or quilts may aid the appeal by contributing $2 for the purchase of a single blanket. Donations should be sent to local headquarters.

Bill Walker announces that he has taken over the bulk gasoline agency from Everett Bills, and, of course, that the service supreme will continue as in the past.
